

May 2, 2007

MEMORANDUM

TO: All Faculty and Staff

FROM: Brett L. Morris
Assistant Vice President for Human Resources

SUBJECT: May 2007 Work and Family Life Employee Newsletter (OHR 2007-021)

The May 2007 issue of Work and Family Life is particularly interesting. One article which you might find to be of particular importance is about beliefs. Entitled “Why not tell everyone at work what you really think”, this article provides some practical advice for employees about refraining from bringing personal beliefs to work. Beliefs tend to trigger strong emotions in ourselves and others and we all need to be mindful about sharing too much with our co-workers.

There are a number of other excellent articles in this edition of Work and Family Life. You may reference the issue by clicking on the following link:

http://www.uthscsa.edu/hr/worklife/05\_2007.pdf

If you have trouble accessing the newsletter, please contact Priscilla Castillo at 7-2595.

OHR 2007-021